The officials want to know whether, under the terms of the act, they are merely to "provide" for the raising of the prock, and then report to Congress as to the plans decided upon, and await further authorizawhether the act authorizes them to go ahead with the work.

Should the Attorney General decide have real weight nothing can be done toward remedying them until Congress work of raising the Maine would be put back for practically a year. Company Integrity Lost.

These matters are held in strict conthe work until the Attorney General shall fidence, as the brigade officers do not want to have the discussion to become general. One of the reasons which company officers put forward is that the reappropriations for the work of raising the organization of the guard makes it imbattleship. However, this spirit of discontent wil not last forever, and if this has anything to do with the present small strength, the time will come when the guard will be in stronger shape than ever. At least the officers predict it. They believe that the undesirables in formally decided that nothing can be done the guard will be weeded out and only

Busy at Mess Time.

There is much kicking because of a confusion of orders last night about mess time. Some photographers got around camp and got the brigade and regimental officers to line up for pictures about the time mess sounded. There had been a confusion of orders on the hour fer mess, and in addition Gen. Harries had ordered every officer to accompany him to the tent of Gen. Wotherspoon, in command of the camp. All this fell within a single half hour. There was some very soldier-like expletive language along the company

streets in consequence. The District National Guard has dirty camp. There is no getting around that these purely technical objections it and it is not the fault of the boys from the capital, either. The regular officers roasted the guard good and convenes again next December, and the sharp today, and every officer who has anything to do with the policing and cleanliness of the camp was put or his mettle.

The main trouble lies with the fact that the Pennsylvania guardsmen lef things in a mess. There are more flies the Keystone state left than there are the District boys are on the same camp ground and they are not living on a bed of roses by any means. The stories floating around the camp are to the effect that the Pennsylvania troops did not want to come here, they sulked in their tents while they were here and took no interest in keeping things clean. And now the District boys are getting it good and hot from the United States Army officers. Instructions were given out by Maj. C. Fred Cook which will probably result in a thorough scrubbing and washing and policing everywhere in

Attack on the Camp.

For the first time during the maneuvers this big camp was under fire all day ters the moon has ever since 1821, by yesterday, as all the regular troops ruling of the Supreme Court, been marched out into the country early in he morning and attacked the camp. Five rounds of blank ammunition was given to every man. The 29th United States Infantry and the 2d United States Infantry were snooping around the camp Francisco I. Madero, candidate of the all day, waiting to take a pot shot at anti-re-electionist party for President of any imaginary enemy that it thought it ing on the District's soldiers were away off from camp, practicing outpost duty. They, too, had five rounds of the real thing-paper bullets, of course-and every now and then a District guardsman would be shot through his thorax. The 1st and 2d Regiments split in two, each battalion becoming an enemy of its erstwhile friends. The men have been cautioned against firing at each other with blank cartridges at too close a range. Some of the green men that were here with the Pennsylvania troops found that even paper bullets can make rounds. Some of those fellows began banging away at each other at about two y yards. The result was that more that one man was badly hurt. The Pennsylvanians got into one of these tactical scraps with the hardened veterans of the 2d Regulars and began shooting paper bullets at them. The regulars knew all about these blank cartridges, and rather than get hurt with them began chasing the Pennsylvanians off the field with rocks.
